

Michael Melman

Lewis Ray Youth Bowler of the Year

Michael Melman is the son of a bowling father and uncles. His father brought him to AMF Euless and the poor guy never finished the game. He tripped and fell and ended up in the ER due to the ball landing on his finger and caused him to get stitches. Even after such a horrific start, Michael still wanted to learn to bowl.

B.J. Woodard took him under his wing and got him started in being the bowler he is today.

Michael bowls many tournaments throughout the year and is currently the reigning Texas State Youth Masters as he beat the best male bowlers in the state of Texas this August.

Michael bowls a sport league on Saturday mornings and the Jr. Gold league on Sunday nights. He's a member of the NCTUSBC travel league and bowls on his high school team.

Michael does his part in fundraising for Jr. Gold spots, BvBC, or just helping to purchase travel league shirts. Michael has grown throughout the years with his dedication to making his game as good as it is today. He is a respectful young man who is liked by his peers and their parents.

Michael currently has a 3.0 with Academic Honors and participates in his high school band and karate and is the captain of his high school bowling team.

Michael has qualified for Jr. gold the past 3 years among other accomplishments the past few years.
